GREECE MAY BE REPUBLIC IF EX-KING SEEKS CROWN

Premier Ready To Restore Pension For Formal Abdication

PAUL IS CHOSEN

Young Prince To Have Throne If Father Retires

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Oct. 28.—According to an Associated Press message from Athens, M. Venizelos, the Premier, will agree to restore ex-King Constantine's pension, which has been suspended, if he will formally abdicate and his eldest son, Prince George, will renounce his rights to the throne.

It is considered that the deposed monarch will probably accept these terms, as his finances are low.

Otherwise a republic will probably be established.

CONSTANTINE WEEPS

New York, Oct. 28.—The Lucerne correspondent of the Associated Press states that ex-King Constantine wept when notified of the death of King Alexander.

He asked Prince Paul if he would accept the throne.

Prince Paul replied that he would leave the matter in the hands of his father.

Paris, Oct. 28.—The Greek Minister at Berne, acting on instructions from the Cabinet at Athens, has presented to Prince Paul of Greece the condolences of his Government on the occasion of the death of his brother, King Alexander, and informed the Prince that he is called upon to succeed to the throne.

GUARANTEES DEMANDED

Before Prince Paul's accession is proclaimed, however, certain guarantees will have to be given, notably the formal and final abdication of the ex-King Constantine, renunciation by Prince George of his claim to the throne and the recognition by the new sovereign of the legality of the status resulting from the Salonika revolution.

FRANCE PROTESTS BRITISH ATTITUDE TOWARDS GERMANY

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, October 27.—The Echo de Paris states that the French Government intends to protest to the British Government against its decision not to confiscate German property in England in the event of default by Germany.

The Paris press comments adversely on the decision and sees therein an intimation to Germany to consider the Treaty of Versailles as a "scrap of paper."

Japanese Liners To Carry Passengers Of U.S. For Month

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Oct. 28.—The Shipping Board has renewed permission for Japanese liners to carry passengers between Honolulu and San Francisco to be effective for one month.

Admiral Benson, the Chairman of the Board, said that the policy of the Board was to let Japan carry these passengers until America was free to handle them alone.

He added that the Board had rejected bids for surplus material on the Pacific because they were too low.

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Oct. 27.—In the Reichstag today Herr Fehrenbach, the Imperial Chancellor, drew attention to "the growth of French militarism" and stated that with the support of Belgium and Poland it was striving for predominance on the continent.

He strongly condemned the teachings of the Russian Terrorists. Amid loud opposition from the Left, he warned Germans, professing faith in the doctrines of Moscow, not to exceed the limits of the law.

SUNDAY SCHOOL DELEGATES FROM TOKIO ARE HERE

Prominent Figures Are Among Visitors—Fourth Party To Hold Convention

Parties of delegates that attended the world Sunday School Convention in Tokio and are now returning to their homes are being entertained in Shanghai today before sailing for America. A number of men whose names are known wherever Sunday schools are maintained are among the visitors to Shanghai.

In the first party that arrived here last night were 21 delegates. In a larger party following that is coming in two sections today and tomorrow morning are 79 more delegates. All of these have come from Japan through Korea by way of Peking and Nanking.

SAILING TODAY

The party of 21 that arrived last night will sail today on the steamer Kasuga Maru for Japan where they will trans-ship to a vessel bound for the United States. The 79 delegates in the larger party are to sail for America tomorrow on the Tenyo Maru of the T.K.K.

A fourth party from the Tokio convention — the 'Around-the World-Party' which numbers 40 people—is to arrive here next Friday and will hold a Sunday School convention here next Saturday and Sunday. This party is proceeding southward on its tour around the world and will sail for Hongkong on the steamer Ritano Maru on November 3. On its tour around the world these delegates are holding numerous conventions and it is announced that no less than 40 conventions of Sunday School workers will be held in India alone.

The visitors of the larger party arriving today and tomorrow are to be entertained here Sunday morning before boarding their steamer. They will visit St. John's University and the Shanghai College at The Point, besides other institutions.

NOTED FIGURES

Accompanying this party is Mr. Martin Lawrance of Chicago who is known throughout the Sunday School World as "Ask Marion Lawrance." He will speak at 11 o'clock at the Baptist Church on North Szechuen Road and probably will deliver addresses at other places that the party will visit.

Another name familiar universally to Sunday School folk is that of Dr. Joseph Clark of New York, who is with the party. Doctor Clark is the well-known "Timothy Standby" whose contributions to Sunday School publications everywhere have long been widely read. Mr. F. Langford of Toronto, Canada, who is Secretary of the Methodist Sunday School organisation in Canada, is also a member of the party.

IMMEDIATE PEACE PREDICTION MADE BY WEN TSUNG-YAO

Six Provinces Joining North, Says Former Leader Of South

PEKING IS RECOGNISED

Southern Government Dissolves For Benefit Of China, He Declares

Mr. Wen Tsung-yao, Minister of Foreign Affairs for the defunct Canton Military Government, yesterday prophesied the early union with Peking of four provinces: Hunan, Kwangtung, Kwangsi, and Szechuen; asserted that Kweichow and Yunnan would join the North soon afterward, and expressed the belief that internal difficulties would soon be settled in China. Mr. Wen arrived on the Cordiliere of the French Mail line from Hongkong.

He said that the Military Government at Canton was dissolved by its own decision following protracted negotiations with Peking which were brought to a head by the death of Li Shun, late Tuchun of Kiangsu. Following Li's death Generals Tsao Kun and Chang Tso-lin wired overtures to the military authorities in the South and "the Canton Government terminated that China might be united," Mr. Wen told THE CHINA PRESS soon after he arrived in Shanghai yesterday

SOUTH RECOGNISES PEKING

"The Southern military authorities have recognised Peking and after the papers and documents of the Canton Government have been placed in order here they will be taken to Peking by a secretary of the former administration," Mr. Wen said. "Peking is to recognise all appointments made by the Southern Government."

Mr. Wen denied that any of the yamens in Canton were bombed by airplanes. One airplane appeared over Kwangyinshan but was scared away by the Kwangsi forces, he said. A bomb was thrown in front of the yamen of the military government, but only the bomb-thrower, a paid coolie, died as a result, he added.

Mr. Wen further denied that he sided with the Kwangsi clique. And asserted that disapproved party politics and wanted some neutral man at the head of the Kwangtung provincial administration.

TSEN COMING HERE

Mr. Wen believes that General Tsen Chun-hsuan, head of the Kwangsi Military party, is coming to Shanghai but does not think that Mr. Chen Chin-tao, former Minister of Finance at Canton, will come here.

Canton, Oct. 27.—The Shameen authorities have forbidden the circulation of Chinese newspapers in the concession, and the British Consul-General will not allow newsboys to deliver in Shameen the daily paper now appearing under joint auspices at Honam.

Gen. Mu Yung-hsien has formally announced his willingness to depart, and he has advised the people and troops to obey Tang Ting-kwang.

DENY DISSOLUTION

Canton, Oct. 28.—The Cantonese leaders, interviewed on the situation, said they refused to acknowledge the right of Tsen Chun-hsuan, Lu Yung-ting, Mu Yung-hsien, and their fellow-Kwangsi-ites to declare the dissolution of the Military Government and cancellation of

Council Of League To Make Make New Attempt To End Strife

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Oct. 28.—According to reports from various sources German volunteers are penetrating into Lithuanian territory with funds, of the German origin of which there can be no doubt, and are forming a military organisation. While concentrations of armed volunteers, munitions and horses are reported at the frontier stations in East Prussia. It is learned that demobilised soldiers of the Lyok militia are being urged to join the volunteers, passing into Lithuania.

Brussels, Oct. 27, Later.—It is now announced that the Council of the League of Nations will make a further attempt to settle the Polish-Lithuanian trouble and will hear the representatives of both countries again today.

SETTLEMENT POSTPONED

Brussels, October 27.—The Council of the League of Nations, which is now meeting here has confronted the Polish-Lithuanian question and the complications induced by the action of General Zeligovski.

It is stated however that the Council has not been able to induce either the Lithuanians or the Poles to undertake military action against General Zeligovski and it is understood that the Council, unable to appeal to force, has decided to postpone the settlement of the question which can only take the form of economic pressure.

London, Oct. 27.—The decision to remove the headquarters of the League of Nations from London to Geneva was carried into effect today when the Secretariat of the League left by special train from Victoria Station for Geneva.

CHINESE ELECTORS TO MEET MONDAY

Government Is Attacked For Lord Mayor's Death

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 27.—At the inquest on the Lord Mayor of Cork, the Jury returned the verdict that Mr. MacSwiney died from heart-failure and acute delirium, following scurvy, due to exhaustion from prolonged refusal to take food.

New York, Oct. 28.—The London correspondent of the Associated Press telegraphs:

The Times attacks the Government on the score of reprisals in Ireland.

The journal says that it is to be feared that the consequences of Lord Mayor MacSwiney's death will not be confined to the British Isles.

The Times describes Mr. MacSwiney as "a misguided but sincere patriot, who died for his convictions."

The Daily News says that the Government "imprisoned him as a criminal and converted him into a martyr" and that the Government must be held responsible for his death.

The Daily Herald describes Mr. MacSwiney's death as murder by the Government after 74 days slow torture.

The Paris correspondent of the Associated Press states that the newspapers there praise Mr. MacSwiney's ecurage and declare that France must not interfere in the matter.

The Echo de Paris says that "his sacrifice will resound throughout the world as a heart-rending appeal for his suffering nation."

New York, Oct. 27.—The death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney has caused great excitement among the Irish element, and large meetings of protest are being arranged. The Mayor, Mr. Hylan, who is an Irishman, has ordered the American flag over the City Hall to be flown at half-mast.

RIVERINE STATES WILL DETERMINE PORTS' CONTROL

Danube Conference Given Audience By Premier At Paris

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Oct. 28.—The plenipotentiaries to the International Danube Conference, as well as the members of their delegations, were presented to the Premier yesterday afternoon at the Foreign Office by M. Legrand, Minister Plenipotentiary and President of the Conference and M. Stolian, the Rumanian Plenipotentiary and Vice-President of the Conference.

M. Leygues conversed with each of the representatives of the foreign powers and spoke of the interest which he felt in the success of their important labors, which, it was to be hoped, would have a most favorable influence on the economic development of Danubian Europe.

The Conference met today at 5 p.m. and continued the discussion of the interport traffic question, reserving its decision until a future sitting. The Conference then considered the creation of free ports and free zones in ports where trans-shipment generally takes place. It was decided that this operation should be left for settlement to the riverine states but that their decisions would have to be communicated to the International Danube Commission. The sittings of the Conference will be resumed tomorrow.

KIRIN TUCHUN GOES TO RELIEF OF URGA FORCES

Chang Tso-lin Proposes Establishment Of Arsenal In Fengtien

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 29.—There is no further news to hand from Urga, but the officer in charge of the telegraphs at Ude reports the arrival of troops which left Chahar on October 24 and went on to Urga on October 27.

Various telegrams report that troops are being despatched to Urga from Dolon-nor, in the north of Chihli, and other places.

Gen. Sun Lieh-chun, Tuchun of Kirin, reports his departure for [illegible] which is considered important strategically in view of the situation in Urga.

Peking, Oct. 29.—According to the Chen Pao, Gen. Chang Tso-lin proposes the establishment of a modern arsenal in Fengtien, under foreign experts, for the manufacture of all kinds of arms and ammunition.

He proposes that Fengtien should raise 50 percent, Kirin 30 percent and Heilungkiang 20 percent of the required capital, the Government making up the deficit, if any; it being understood that whatever of the output is not required in Manchuria shall go to the other Provinces.

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, October 29.—General Chen Yi, former Resident Commissioner of Urga and now appointed Mongolian High Commissioner, departed for Urga this morning with 60 bodyguards. He expects to secure Chahar troops in Kalgan, which will lead the relief expedition to Urga.

Shanghai Organizations Aid Victims Of Famine

The Y.M.C.A. is planning to give a grand concert at the Olympic Theater on the evening of November 11 in aid of the famine relief fund. The association school is raising a special fund for the purpose. Collection boxes are being placed in the building and members are encouraged to subscribe to the cause.

The sum of Tls. 10,000 was received yesterday from the Chinese Chamber of Commerce of Penang to be subscribed to the famine relief fund.

The three day entertainment at the New World Amusement Park begins Monday. Plans are being completed by the committee of the Shanghai Merchants Famine Relief Association.

CHIHLI APPEAL

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tientsin, Oct. 26.—The following statement has been handed to Reuter's Agency for publication:

The Tientsin International Society for Famine Relief is endeavoring to operate in regions within that portion of the Province of Chihli which can be served by the Tientsin-Pukow Railway.

Within this region there are nearly four millions affected, being over half of the famine-stricken in this Province. For those four million destitute Tientsin needs $40,000,000 and appeals for all possible help which should be sent to "Infamine, Tientsin."

MONEY FROM HONGKONG

Hongkong, Oct. 29.—The Legislative Council has voted $100,000 for the China Famine Relief Fund. The Governor said that the Colony owed so much to its connection with the Chinese Republic that it was right for it to contribute from its resources to relieve the sufferings of the people in the North.

The Council also voted $50,000 as a building grant for Holy Trinity College, Canton.

The following letter from the Catholic Mission at Paotingfu, dated the 8th of October, was received here yesterday by the Lazarist Procurate:

"As requested I beg to send you herewith some information as regards the situation in the district in which this Mission is situated. I would like to say that the misery is not confined to our district, on the contrary, I cannot too strongly point out that the neighboring missions, those of Hokienfu and of Chenglingfu, are as sorely tried as ours, perhaps even more.

I can only hope that the Committee will come to our assistance without delay as every day this poor country comes closer and closer to death; the poor people, enfeebled by privations, without winter clothing, sold so as to enable them to get food for a few days more, will be easy victims to the first cold snap: I have myself seen them falling along the roads

STRIKE SETTLEMENT IS AGREED UPON; MINERS MUST VOTE ON TERMS

Premier Defied In Veterans' Aid Plan By Trades Union

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 27.—A Conference of the Building Trades Unions in Manchester has reaffirmed its refusal to suspend Trade Union Regulations in order that ex-servicemen may be engaged to provide the labor requisite for the solution of the Housing Problem.

This decision is important in view of Mr. Lloyd George's warning in the course of his reply to a deputation of London Borough Mayors with regard to the unemployment question, when he declared that the Government would insist on the employment of ex-servicemen on much-needed house-building, and "if the building trades objected, they would have to take their chance."

Heavy Losses Result Of Walkout But Increased Production And Better Feeling Expected To Result

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 28.—A settlement was concluded today between the Government, the Miners' Executive and the owners.

The terms so far as the miners are concerned will require the ratification of a ballot but matters are sufficiently advanced for a general review of the dispute.

It is impossible of course to exaggerate the serious character of the strike which had brought to an absolute standstill the most important key industry in Great Britain and was rapidly affecting every other industry.

That the general public was less inconvenienced than it was by the railway strike a year ago was due solely to the fact that the results of the latter were immediate and obvious to everyone, whereas those of the closing of the coal mines were gradual and cumulative.

JOBLESS MENACE

Nevertheless the imminent danger of widespread unemployment on the present occasion may be gauged by the fact that by the end of the strike not merely were the iron and steel-works paralysed everywhere but industries, so apparently remote as the Staffordshire potteries and the Lancashire cotton-mills, were compelled to discharge many thousands of workers.

Considering all this nothing is more remarkable than the temper and self-restraint of the people including the miners. The latter, while universally obedient to the strike orders, were largely ignorant of the exact causes of the strike and felt no overwhelming grievance.

STRIKERS AT SPORTS

Their enforced leisure coincided with glorious weather and was spent largely in gardening and football. In nearly every case they co-operated with the owners in preserving the safety of the pits, where in many instances tools, ponies, etc., were left in confidence of an early settlement.

With the exception of a few cases of pilfering coal and potatoes there was no crime anywhere and no sabotage whatever.

The railwaymen, whose attitude was much discussed, showed a general disinclination to join in the strike and the action of their leaders in postponing the strike notices was probably due as much to this known disposition of their followers as to their own moderation.

RAILROADERS FOR PEACE

While the bulk of the branches of the Railwaymen's Federation passed resolutions, leaving the decision to the Central Executive, some actually protested formally against the suggestion of a sympathetic strike as due to the Bolshevik element and unworthy of the sacrifices of the war.

Meanwhile the bulk of the population was always inexpressive but was making itself heard in various places through discharged soldiers' associations and the "Keep the Peace" movement showed unmistakable determination to tolerate no disorder.

The strike has been a lamentable set-back at such a time but it has shown not unhopeful signs of greater production in the future and greater popular steadiness.

OPTIMISM PREVAILS

London, October 27, 4:15 a.m. —An optimistic feeling prevails as a result of yesterday's coal negotiations and a settlement today is regarded as probable.

It is anticipated consequently that the miners will assure the Trades Union Congress, which is meeting today for the purpose of considering how best to help the miners, that their intervention will not be necessary.

In the event of the miners and the Government agreeing the terms will have to be submitted to the National Delegate Conference and it is anticipated that the Miners' Executive will be able strongly to recommend acceptance.

It is not likely that the Conference can be called before the week-end as the delegates must be summoned from all parts of the country.

The proposed agreement generally follows the outline, cabled yesterday, with the addition that wages shall in future be based on the turnover of revenue, which arrangement resembles the old

CONCESSIONS IN EMERGENCY BILL MADE BY HOUSE

Parliament Must Be Called In In Five Days Instead Of Fortnight

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 27.—In the House of Commons last night, during the Committee stage of the Emergency Powers Bill, the Government made several concessions, increasing the authority of Parliament, under which Parliament must now be summoned within five days after the proclamation of emergency instead of a fortnight after as was originally proposed and the regulations are only valid for a week instead of a fortnight, unless sanctioned by Parliament.

The proclamation of emergency will be renewable monthly.

YOURIN MISSION AT PEKING IS FAILURE, REPORT

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, October 29.—That Yourin, head of the Russian delegation seeking commercial relations with China, is becoming more unpopular daily is shown by the refusal of the Metropolitan police to allow him to transfer the lease of the property of the late Dr. H. E. Morrison, the British advisor, into his own name.

The police action is taken in spite of the fact that the lease had already been bought from the estate. The move is considered a hint from the Government that Yourin's presence is no longer desired in Peking.

MOSCOW WARNS NO MERCY FOR REBEL FORCES

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 27.—A revival of the reports of impending trouble in Russia is contained in a telegram from Helsingfors, received today, which states that the Soviet is very anxious and is fearing a counter-revolution.

Moscow has been placed in an intensified state of siege and a proclamation has been issued, declaring that no mercy will be shown to insurgents.

The Moscow journal Investia reports that between July 21 and August 21, 1,183 people were shot in spite of the fact that capital punishment is supposed to have been officially abolished.

POLES AND SOVIET RATIFY PEACE PACT

(Reuter's Service)

Warsaw, October 27.—Both Poland and Soviet-Russia have ratified the Peace Treaty, signed at Riga.

Welsh sliding-scale but on a national instead of a local basis.

NO PRICE INCREASE

Increased wages will not increase the price of coal to the consumer and wages will be reviewed at the end of the year by the National Wages Board.

9:40 p.m.—People went home tonight awaiting only the official notification that the coal strike was settled but the morning will show that they were mistaken. At what was expected to be the wind-up of the Conference at Downing Street this evening the Miners' Executive sprang a new demand in connection with the proposal for a permanent settlement.

This was accompanied by a change in the attitude of certain members of the Executive and another adjournment until tomorrow was consequently necessary. In the meantime an emergency meeting of the Cabinet Council will be held. The Trades Union Congress is marking time and will meet again tomorrow.

Justice Is Basis Of Law Proposed In California, Comptroller Tells Japan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Sacramento, October 28.—State Comptroller Chambers, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Exclusion League in California, replying to a statement by the Federal Commission, said that the anti-Japanese movement in California was not in the category of propaganda but was based on incontrovertible and startling facts, which were supported by official investigations.

He said that politicians were supporting the movement because of its justice and on the question of its support were practically unanimous.

GUARDS VESTED RIGHTS

California was scrupulously guarding the vested rights, under the Japan Treaty, and was declining to accord to the Japanese rights which were not accorded to Americans in Japan. Race conflicts, Mr. Chambers declared, were inevitable if the Japanese were not stopped.

Tokio, October 29.—The Kokumin understands that a formal protest has been prepared in anticipation of the result of the California referendum and this will be presented on November 7, when the anti-alien legislation is to take effect.

Simultaneously, it is stated, Mr. Shidehara will present a request to Mr. Colby, of the department of State, for a preliminary agreement based on the concurrence of opinion reached during the recent conferences.

"HAWAII LOST"

The Kokumin further understands that this agreement provides for the privilege of naturalisation to the Japanese already living in America on the condition that there shall be no further immigration.

He said that Hawaii was already lost to the "whites" and would become in effect a Japanese principality unless the United States took action.

Mr. Chambers declared that the Japanese in California had driven out the "whites," secured control of the industries, and displaced white children in the public schools.

China's Troubles Caused By Morals, Not Politics, Says David Z. T. Yui

General Secretary Of National Committee Of Chinese Y.M.C.A. Delivers Address At Hankow

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, Oct. 25.—The auditorium of Chinese Y. M. C. A. of Hankow was taxed to its full capacity on the evening of October 24, when Mr. David Z. T. Yui, General Secretary of the National Committee of the Chinese Y. M. C. A., Shanghai, addressed an audience of 1,200 people on "Character as the Basis of Patriotism."

Speaking in excellent mandarin, Mr. Yui explained that China's salvation could not be worked out through political channels, inasmuch as the source of China's troubles was not in politics but in the morals of her people.

To corroborate his statement, Mr. Yui mentioned the various fruitless efforts by political means to better China made by her statesmen during the past nine years of her existence. Reminding his audience of the fact that a good government always goes hand in hand with improved society, and that China's government must come from among her people since China is a Republic, Mr. Yui added that China's salvation had to come from improving the morals of her people from the bottom up.

PEOPLE MUST RULE

To use the words of the speaker, "China is a Republic. Her government must come from among her people. It cannot come from heaven, nor can it project from beneath the earth. Therefore unless the morals of the Chinese people at large are improved, unless the Chinese are equipped with a force to counteract the corruptions of their officials, and unless the people are convinced of this fact, ten or twenty years may pass without finding China a whit better than she is today."

In closing his address, the speaker advised his listeners not to be patriotic just in empty words and without doing something substantial for their own moral uplift. Chaotic as the present day situation in China is, there is much to hope if her people will turn their attention from seeking the salvation of China at political end and work for it by improving their own morals first.

URGES CHRISTIANITY

Mr. Yui also made a few suggestions for his audience which are practical and useful if they could be turned into action. Among other things, he exhorted all present to follow the exemplary manhood of Jesus Christ.

A similar address was delivered by Mr. Yui in the Wuchang Y. M. C. A. on Saturday, October 23. Mr. Yui has been visiting here since October 23, when he camed south from North China. He has visited Peking, Tientsin and Chengchow on business connected with the Y. M. C. A. in company with some other foreign and Chinese secretaries from Shanghai.

Mr. Yui's home is in Wuchang where his father, Rev. Yui Wenching, is a preacher of the American Church Mission. He was brought up in Hankow and was educated first at St. John's University, Shanghai, and then in America. For one time he was headmaster of the Preparatory Department of Boone University, Wuchang.

WANT TO HEAR DEWEY

Professor John Dewey, of the Peking Government University and a noted American educator and philosopher in China, passed through Hankow en route to Changsha, the provincial capital of Hunan province. Doctor Dewey went to Hunan at the request of the Provincial Educational Assembly and various Chinese organisations in Changsha to lecture the people in that interior city.

The people of this center are very keen in getting John Dewey to lecture them in Wuchang. As he promised the Hunan people to without delay, he had to hurry through in Hankow. However, it is expected that a warm welcome will be extended to Doctor John Dewey by the people of Wuhan, on his return from Changsha.

Another noted philosopher that passed through Hankow today is Mr. Bertrand Russel, who went to Changsha by the Canton-Hankow train this afternoon with a party of leading Chinese educators from Peking, mostly from the Peking Government University. Mr. Russel is proceeding to the interior city of Changsha also at the request of the Hunan people. He will deliver a series of lectures in Changsha before the various Chinese organisations there.

Merchant Marine Increase And Better Cable Service Urged At Pan-Pacific Tiffin

Chinese Consul-General At San Francisco, Mr. Charles Denby And Mr. George Fitch Speakers At Tiffin Held Yesterday

Mr. C. H. Chu, Chinese Consul-General of San Francisco, yesterday gave an interesting address before the tiffin meeting of the Pan-Pacific Association. The speaker sounded a note of optimism with reference to the future of China and convinced his audience that Republicanism has come to stay in China for ever.

Mr. Charles Denby, formerly United States Consul-General in Shanghai and later at Vienna, presided. Mr. George A. Fitch, secretary of the association, gave an interesting talk on the history and development of the association and the work which the committee of the organisation has undertaken.

After paying a high tribute to the country where he spent five years for his studies and two in official service, Mr. Chu said:

CONSUL LAUDS AMERICA

"We Chinese have good feelings towards America, not because of geographical reasons but because of the fair play which America has always shown us in her dealings with us and the fact that she has never taken any advantage of our country. We had to fight hard for the maintenance of the Chinese Republic but now we feel that its continued existence is assured. We look towards the United States, however, to help her younger sister Republic.

"During the war, I was in the United States. I observed many achievements which China would do well to learn. First of all there was the spirit of unity in national affairs. I observed how the people worked together unanimously for the support of their Government. The war was won by the Allies in general and the United States in particular. People worked unanimously. Such unanimity furnishes an example for the Chinese people, because what we lack more than anything else is unanimity in our national affairs."

WORLD LOOKS TO PACIFIC

The Chinese Consul-General then quoted American history in support of his observations and pointed out how in 1860, America tried out the theory of union first and state afterwards as and sustained the principle of "United we stand; divided we fall."

"With the termination of war, the eyes of the world are turned on the Pacific," Mr. Chu stated. "The theater of activities has been shifted to the Pacific from the Atlantic and the Pacific at once becomes the important ocean of international intercourse commercially industrially.

Both United States and China should build up large merchant marines so that the materials of mutual trade might be carried in our own vessels.

"Inadequate communication facilities have also made it difficult to develop trade relations. There is only one cable and when that is out of repair, as often happens, it is necessary to convey messages across the Atlantic. The radio systems have not been sufficiently developed. We should urge that a new cable be laid at once and an improved wireless established."

URGES CO-OPERATION

"China is rich in cash as well as in natural resources," the speaker declared. "It has an unlimited supply of labor and raw material, but without industrial experience, it is not easy for the Chinese to open new factories. Therefore I propose that Chinese and foreign capitalists co-operate in organising industrial enterprises. The Chinese partners can finance and market the goods, while the Americans can obtain up-to-date machinery and introduce the latest methods. Thus a closer relationship will be brought about between the two countries."

MR. DENBY SPEAKS

Mr. Denby referred to the need of educating the American people into a keener appreciation of China and of passing a federal incorporation act that would facilitate commercial relations between the two countries.

"I have appeared before the Judiciary Committees of both the House and the Senate to urge such legislation," said Mr. Denby.

"One of the most glaring errors in the history of our relations with China is the lack of a federal incorporation law. We preach to the Chinese about the necessity of reforming their commercial legislation, and yet we set them a very bad example.

"A change is coming over American business men in their attitude toward China. They are coming to regard the country, not merely as a place to trade in, but as a place in which to invest. That, indeed, is my present mission in China. Mr. Chu has urged commercial relations of a permanent character in public addresses throughout the United States."

HISTORY OF UNION

Mr. Fitch first traced the origin of the Pan-Pacific Association, which is an outgrowth of the Saturday Club, which saw its origin in the China Advancement Society, started by himself and a number of other prominent residents in Shanghai seven years ago. It was planned to start a Tourist Bureau, but before anything resulted the war broke out, and tourist travel practically ceased.

Mr. Fitch spoke of the 200,000 Yen being spent yearly by the Japan Tourist Bureau and the favorable results that have been obtained. A convention to thresh out the possibilities of a Chinese Tourist Bureau will be called in the near future, he said.

PROPOSES TRADE EXHIBIT

"An Art Museum Committee has also been proposed, to build up a museum for the study of Chinese art. Such a committee might also undertake the opening of a commercial exhibit of the scope already opened in Tientsin and Chengtu.

"It is quite possible that some day this work will be taken over by the governments of the Pacific nations, just as the Pan-American Association was taken over by the governments concerned."

Among those present at the tiffin were Mr. Quang Ki-tseng, Chinese Minister to Mexico; Mr. C. F. Hsu, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs; Mr. Quo Tai-chi, former secretary of General Li Yuen-hung; General Shangtung Liang, delegate on military and naval affairs to the League of Nations; Mr. G. S. Foster Kemp, headmaster of the municipal public schools for Chinese; Mr. F. R. Sites; Messrs. S. K. Chen and N. T. Yang, secretaries of the Foreign Bureau, Mr. Y. C. Tong, Mr. Chung Meng-yew, commissioner of the Shanghai Mint, Mr. M. F. Perkins, Acting U. S. Consul-General; Mr. K. P. Chen, Mr. E. H. Everett, United States Postmaster, and Dr. Fong Sec.

Just A Mugg -:- By Damon Runyon

This Chelsea McBride is in to see me one day last week, and I say to Chelsea McBride like this:

"Well," I say, "I see many people are much smoked up because us Americans are going over to Europe and getting ourselves put on the bum with wickedness and one thing and another."

"Yes," Chelsea McBride says, "and the way I look at it, it is a shame such goings on are permitted. It is a shame," Chelsea says, "that these foreigners are allowed to steal one of our greatest old home industries.

"In the old days," he says, "our people can stay at home and get themselves put on the bum right there in this country with wickedness. Furthermore," Chelsea says, "they can get it done better here than they can anywhere else in the world, if they only know the ropes.

"In fact," Chelsea says, "at one time this country leads the world in putting people on the bum, and especially home people, but now they have to go far away, and," he says, "while they got put on the hub elsewhere all right, I do not know that the job is as good as it used to be done here.

"In the old says," Chelsea says, "a native of this country can get himself put on the bum in almost any town, including Toledo, Ohio, Minneapolis, Minnestota, and Denver, Colorado. He does not even have to go away from his own neighborhood.

"In those days," Chelsea says, "the chances are there is always a joint right handy to a guy's house where there is plenty of wickedness on tap at all times, and a guy can be put on the bum almost on his own doorstep.

"You take my old home town out West," Chelsea says. "Out there," he says, "we have the Bucket of Blood, and the Rat Pit, and many other old-established places which make a business of putting our home people on the bum, and so we keep our money in town by patronising home industry.

"Of course," Chelsea says, "the job is better done in Chicago, or New York, and sometimes in New Orleans, what with them having more experience and practice in such matters, but," he says "it can be done so well at home that few people can tell the difference, and it saves railroad fare.

"Nowadays," Chelsea says, "a guy will be a long time in his old home town, or in Chicago or New York either, before he can get himself put on the bum, so naturally our people are running off to Europe. They go to England and France, and especially France, where they are very good at putting people on the bum, what with not only having all their own experts at the business back on the job, but some of the best experts in the country.

"So," Chelsea says, "a good old American home industry is down and out, and this country is losing plenty of dough as a result."

"Well," I say to Chelsea McBride, "there is much truth in what you say, but," I say, "of course people do not have to go to places where they are going to get put on the bum, such as these places I read about in France."

"Yes," Chelsea says, "but if people are not going to get themselves put on the bum, what is the use of going to Europe at all?"

Little Light Thrown On Wayside Murder

Inquest Adjourned And Re-examination Of Victim's Body Is Ordered

An inquest over the body of the woman found murdered in a house at 1034 Sawgin Road Thursday morning was held at the Mortuary yesterday when it was decided that a re-examination of the body be made. Little light was thrown on the mystery by the investigation. Four Chinese who are being questioned in the case were released on $50 security to appear for evidence when the inquest is resumed Monday.

Testimony was given by the police, the woman's daughter and sweetheart and several neighbors. The sweetheart and daughter stated that they had left the house early in the morning, the woman being alive and well then. Both said they had never seen the rope which was about the victim's neck and declared that nothing was missing from the room and that there was no trace of any instrument with which the stabbing might have been done.

Three other families lived in the house and when the woman did not make an appearance at 9 a.m. they tried the door, found it fastened and sent for a carpenter, who forced it.

HAS "TEX" RICKARD BEEN "DOUBLE-CROSSED"? NAME LEFT OUT OF FIGHT WIRE

Managers Of Carpentier And Dempsey Consult With Cochran And Brady Over Details —Big Contest May Be Held In Havana Next Spring, But More Probably In New York

(By U. S. Naval Radio)

New York, October 28.—It is officially announced that the Dempsey-Carpentier boxing contest will be held in Havana, Cuba, next spring; and that "Tex" Rickard will be associated with Messrs. C. B. Cochrane and William A. Brady in the promotion of the affair.

(Sport Editor's Note: This despatch confirms the speculations indulged in by "Right Cross" in the accompanying article, written earlier in the evening and based upon a "Reuter" report from New York dated October 26.)

By "Right Cross"

The fifteen-round heavyweight boxing bout between Champion Jack Dempsey, of America, and Challenger Georges Carpentier, of France, is now scheduled to take place "between February 1st and June 1st, 1921," according to a Reuter despatch from New York City, received in Shanghai yesterday.

Perhaps the most remarkable sentence in this recent message regarding the big world's championship fight is the concluding one, which reads: "The contract was completed after a lengthy conference between Messrs. Kearns, Deschanps, Cochran and Brady!"

It will be noted that no reference is made to "Tex" Rickard, the American promoter, who has been described in every recent advice from America as the man who would stage the big contest, and who holds a ten-year lease on Madison Square Garden, the immense midmetropolitan auditorium in which it was expected the bout would be held.

Rickard was also believed to be the man who, by outmaneuvering Mr. C. B. Cochran, the British promoter who held a contract with Carpentier and Deschamps, had persuaded his rival to abandon the boxing game altogether —a decision which was reported in both British and American news papers about a month ago.

COCHRAN 'COMES BACK!'

Yet here comes Mr. Cochran's name bobbing up with those of the fighters' managers and Mr. William A. Brady, the big American theatrical producer—while Mr. Rickard has apparently been left on the outside, holding the bag!

It is hardly conceivable that Rickard, experienced as he is in this business of promoting prize-fights, has let so rich a plum as the Carpentier-Dempsey embroglio get away from him without a struggle, or without at least retaining a few fingers in the pie.

The conclusion, therefore, is that he has come to some private agreement with the principals and promoters regarding his "bit" of the lucious receipts which will probably accrue when the two famous battlers get together.

A BIG GAMBLE

Either that, or "Tex" has decided that he does not care to gamble with a proposition wherein the first half-million of receipts would go to the boxers, while the promoters paid all expenses and took their dubious profits out of what was left.

"The contest," says the Reuter despatch, "will probably be held at Madison Square Garden, but the contract does not prevent it being held in Canada, Mexico, Cuba or the West Indies."

This paragraph again suggests the possibility that Messrs. Brady and Cochran have "put one over" on the man who staged the Johnson-Jeffries, Willard-Moran and Dempsey-Willard swatfests—but I "hae ma doobts."

It is much more likely that Rickard is "in on the play," and that the promoters will flirt with Havana, Montreal and Mexico City in order to work up interest in the bout, eventually staging it in the country which offers the fattest guarantee.

MAY GO TO CUBA

In this case it is entirely likely that the big bout may go to Cuba. Inhabitants in the "protected" isle have been making huge fortunes during the past twelve month, owing to the abnormal prices paid for sugar, and like boxing; in addition to which Havana has become a Mecca for the thirsty citizens of the United States, who can slip across in a few days, imbibe various and sundry "oh-be-joyfuls" and slip back again.

Then, too, Havana has a much more benign climate than New York, permitting an open-air contest, and no laws relative to the limit of boxing bouts, once the promoters have "fixed the thing" with the authorities. So the Cuban capital may get the big go, after all.

But the writer still believes that the heavyweights will clash in Madison Square Garden, and that "Ol' Grey Fox" Rickard will be in there helping to count the dollars after the show!

FOREIGN LEAGUE BASKET-BALLERS CHOSEN TONIGHT

Call Issued For Candidates To Meet At Chinese "Y" For Practice

Ta-ra-ta-ta-ta-ta.ta-tah!

Basket-ballers who expect or desire to play in the Foreign League this winter, attention!

President Charles D. Glauque, of the Shanghai Basketball League, has issued a call for you!

You are asked to appear, promptly at eight o'clock this evening, at the Chinese Y.M.C.A. to play in a second series of games under the eyes of the Selection Committee, in order that teams may be formed and actual work begun in anticipation of the opening of the League season.

FEW WERE THERE

Out of some 35 or 40 players who have signified an intention of playing this winter, only eight or ten showed up for practice last Saturday evening. Mr. Glauque explains that this was partially because sufficient advance notice was not given, but urges that as many players as possible be on hand tonight.

The League is framing up well, according to the officials, and will probably have either six or eight teams with which to begin the season. The Public School for Boys (foreign) has written that it will put a team in the League.

A large attendance is especially desired tonight.

Football Teams Offer Splendid Program Today

Some splendid soccer football games should be seen on local fields today. Chief among these will be the five-man match between St. Xavier's and the Recs which will bring the Police Sports program at the Public Recreation Grounds to a hair-raising finish.

At St. John's the eleven representing the S.M.C. Electric Dept., will try conclusions with the collegians. Shanghai College will meet the Union Club on the College grounds.

Soochow opens the season with a contest at Nanking, against the Teacher's College, to be followed by a game against Nanking College on Monday.

Tomorrow afternoon, at the Nanyang College grounds, the eleven representing that institution will play a team representing the British Navy. This should be an exciting struggle. The kick-off will be at 2:30 o'clock, sharp.

Famous Fight Promoter Presents Jack To Gorges

When Dempsey and Carpentier met for the first time in New York recently "Tex" Rickard did the honors. Now the famous promoter seems to be out of things—but will probably be "in again" when the gate receipts are being counted!

RECORD CROWD LIKELY TO SEE POLICE SPORTS

Such trails as do not lead to Kiangwan race track today will almost surely bend their ways to the Public Recreation Ground, where the Shanghai Police will stage their annual sports meet. A record list of entries, including practically all of the crack athletes of the Settlement, has been secured for the afternoon's program.

Granted fair weather, which seemed probable at press-time last night, this should be a record-breaking occasion, both in the matter of attendance and events. The sport promises to be unusually excellent, added to which the entire proceeds of the meet, over and above expense, will go to the North China Famine Fund.

The afternoon will be brought to a close with a football game between teams of fives representing St. Xavier's and the Recs, each of whom knocked out a preliminary opponent on Thursday afternoon.

Following the Police Sports a three-mile bicycle race, between three well-trained contestants, will be staged under the auspices of the Shanghai Harriers' Club. The admission to the enclosure tomorrow afternoon will be one dollar, Shanghai money.

100 ARE DROPPED FROM FOOTBALL SQUAD AT U. C.

Andy Smith, coach of the University of California, has cut loose from his football army about 100 men. The cut is a little earlier this year than in the past, but Smith, Rosenthal and their assistants think that they have enough "hop" on the men to know who are of varsity material and who are not.

The reason given for the early cut was that the number of aspirants was so large that the real varsity men could not be handled correctly, and, coupled with the fact that the first big game is only ten days after practice opened, Smith thought it advisable to let loose some hundred men.

The coaches are still having a merry time with the backfield. There are about twelve men on the squad now that are worthy of first-team positions and all are after the jobs hammer and tongs; so that Smith will have considerable difficulty in picking a first team to send against the Olympic Club.

The arrival of Pesky Sprott on the field has caused the backfield practice to speed up. Sprott, without a doubt, is one of the best end runners on the Coast, besides being a creditable plunger. Sprott says that he is confident that his shoulder will not bother him this season and that he will be able to show his real worth.

PRETTY TENNIS MARKS LADIES' TITLE FINALS

Mrs. Dodge Wins Singles; Mesdames Murray And Nichols, The Doubles

In the finals of the 1920 ladies doubles tournament of the Columbia Country Club, played on the courts of that organisation yesterday afternoon, Mesdames J. E. Murray and R. B. Nichols defeated Mesdames E. P. Graham-Barrow and C. Martin in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4.

Mrs. Murray, who is regarded as perhaps the finest lady-player in or near Shanghai at this time, was at the top of her game, while Mrs. Nichols accorded her partner splendid support throughout the match.

Mesdames Graham-Barrow and Martin, on the other hand, were handicapped by lack of practice, having drawn a bye in the first round of the tourney and their opponents in the second round having failed to appear, resulting in a wash-out.

LOSERS PLAYED WELL

The losers, however, gave their opponents a splendid match, especially Mrs. Graham-Barrow, and only succumbed after all four fair contestants had played top-notch tennis throughout the afternoon.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. D. D. Dodge annexed the 1920 title in the ladies' singles tourney, defeating Mrs. Nichols in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1. Mrs. Nichols seemed a trifle nervous and her court-work was far inferior to her best form, which she displayed yesterday afternoon in the doubles matches.

Mrs. Dodge, Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Nichols received silver cups yesterday afternoon in recognition of their prowess with ball and racket.

MIXED PAIRS TOMORROW

Tomorrow afternoon the finals in the mixed doubles event for the year will be played, this winding up a most successful season at the Columbia Club, which has developed some very fine tennis and excellent entertainment.

Revolver Shoot Closing Time Is Extended A Day

For the benefit of persons who object to shooting on Sunday, it has been decided to advance the date of closing for the Shanghai All-Comers .45-caliber revolver and pistol-shot competition from October 31, until Monday evening, November 1.

This announcement was made yesterday by Mr. Thos. Freeman, Secretary of the Shanghai Miniature Rifle and Revolver Club.

HARVARD AND RUTGERS FOOTBALL TEAMS MAKE POOR INITIAL SHOWINGS

Other Big-College Elevens Run True To Form And Win By Comfortable Margins—Season May Be Full Of Startling Surprises

Those prophets who have predicted that the 1920 football season in the United States will provide even more upsets than its immediate predecessor will undoubtedly find much encouragement in some of the results of opening contests. When Harvard's margin of victory over Holy Cross is an anaemic field goal from the 13-yard line and Rutgers is thrown heavily by Ursinus, the prophets must feel that their predictions are on the road to being justified. If such surprises can mark the opening day of the gridiron season, they ask, what will the later days produce?

The time seems to have passed when leading elevens of the country looked on their first games as mere workouts, as an opportunity to try out signals and a few simple plays that the coaches had drilled into their charges during the early practice days. The good old days of large scores and a triumphant procession down the field seem to have faded away in the past. The vaunted Crimson is winner by only three points over Holy Cross, and Rutgers, coached by Foster Sanford, has two touchdowns scored against it and finally is forced to accept defeat.

These two contests were the only divergence, however, from the expectations of football experts. Brown, Pennsylvania, Syracuse, Georgia Tech, Washington and Jefferson and other prominent elevens were decisively successful. They won by comfortable but not overwhelming margins, and they were never compelled to abandon the tactics that are associated with opening games. Penn State and Syracuse, for instance, played the straightest of football and relied solely on line plunges to carry the ball across the line.

ATTACK CONSERVATIVE

Harvard, also, was conservative in attack. Accounts of the game tell us that the Crimson gained most of its ground by slashing away at the Holy Cross line, and it may be this fact that explains the team's failure to run up a bigger score. Holy Cross's greatest strength has been and is its aggressive, fast-charging line, which is both brawny and alert. The left side of the forwards was especially strong and, to all ap-

Football Candidates At Princeton Put To Hard Test

Bill Roper, football coach of Princeton University, is putting the candidates for the team through a hard and strenuous test. Before making his selections, Roper will make sure that all of the members are thoroughly acquainted with the fine points of the game. The photograph shows one of his methods of training, a candidate taking a flying leap at the "tackling dummy."

Y.W.C.A. REACHES HALF-WAY MARK IN MONEY DRIVE

A rally was held yesterday afternoon at the Young Women's Christian Association at 11a Quinsan Road to hear the reports of the teams which are working throughout this and the coming week to secure the $13,000 needed by the Y.W.C.A. for its annual budget balance. The total amount reported as in hand to date was $6,610.

The largest amount brought in thus far has been by team six, captained by Mrs. C. W. Atkinson. There are two foreign and four Chinese teams, and the rivalry between the two groups is a feature of the campaign. It is the ideal of the Y.W.C.A. in China to have all running expenses over the income from receipts, met by Chinese subscribers, but while a strong beginning has been made in this line, the Association still counts much upon the British and American residents of the community who are familiar with the oragnisation at home.

The campaign executive committee analysed the situation last night as "good, but needing to be much better." It is their hope to have the campaign entirely out of the way by November 6, and while a little over the half the desired amount has been secured thus far, the time of every team member will be needed during the coming week in order to bring in the remaining $6,390.

The next rally will be held at the Association next Wednesday afternoon, November 3, at four o'clock.

ADVERTISING MEN HOLD MEETING

Over 100 people attended the meeting of the Advertising Club of China at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday to see how tinned milk should be put up for marketing in China.

Mr. Hill stated that he had been in the business of manufacturing labels and containers for merchandise articles for over 30 years, and he considered the proposed container for Peony Milk to be one of the best he ever encountered. He spoke in complimentary terms of the work of the Club which could evolve a packing so unique.

The sense of the meeting was voiced by one of the Chinese members present who stated that a more appropriate name would be "Triangle" Brand Milk rather than Peony Brand. He likewise suggested that an illustration on the label bearing pictures of an old man, an old woman, a young woman and a baby would make the appeal more universal in its nature.

Mr. A. R. Hagar was called upon to tell the Club his experiences at the Convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, which he attended recently in America. He announced that he had extended an invitation to the Association to hold the next Convention in Shanghai, and while his offer was heartily received, the great distance separating Shanghai from the United Stats precluded such an idea. He did succeed, however, in having a district for the Orient created which would take in the Advertising Clubs of China, Japan, Hongkong and the Philipines. Mr. C. H. Chu, Consul General at San Francisco, also spoke.

Prior to the meeting, the committee which was appointed to assist in the advertising efforts of the Famine Relief Committee, held a session at which Mr. Benton Sanders, Secretary of the Club was chosen chairman. He announced that the next meeting of this Committee would be held on Monday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. to formulate plans based on the work of the present Famine Committee.

"Who's Who In China"

The second edition of "Who's Who in China," about four times larger than the size of the first edition, has just made its appearance. It contains the pictures and biographies of some of the political, financial, business and professional leaders of China.

A new feature of the edition is the addition of Chinese characters for the names of practically all the persons whose biographies appear.

The useful and attractive volume, the only book of its sort in China, is published by Millard's Review. The selling price is $2 for paper covered and $2.50 for imitation leather binding.

Colonel Stevens At Peking To Discuss Harbin Situation

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, October 26.—Colonel John L. Stevens, American representative and chief of the Allied Technical Railway Board, together with M. Popoff, Russian Consul-General of the old regime in Harbin, arrived in Peking yesterday and are stopping at the Wagon Lits Hotel.

Colonel Stevens has come to confer with the American Minister regarding the economic and political situations in the Harbin region and along the C. E. R. R., and also, it is believed, in view of the impending shareholders meeting of the C. E. R. R. called for Sunday, to make first-hand investigation of the real status of the railway under the new agreement between the Ministry of Communications and the Russo-Asiatic Bank.

M. Popoff is stated to have come to Peking to advocate a more workable plan for the administration of Russian subjects and interests in the railway zone than now obtains, and particularly to set forth the deplorable condition of lawlessness which the Chinese authorities seem unable to suppress in Harbin.

Football Teams Make Poor Initial Showing

pearances, was more than enough for Harvard. Combined with this was a disappointing showing by the Crimson backfield, which failed to cut the holes that the coaching staff had looked for.

There will be, of course, few lamentations at Harvard. It is too early in the season to talk of upsets and disasters. The Crimson coaches may be expected to view the result with cheerful equanimity and work with vigor on the weak spots that were brought to light by the curtain raiser. Little significance can be attached to the small score.

RUTGERS CHAGRINED

Rutgers appears to have been taken completely by surprise in the Ursinus battle. To some extent the Scarlet can blame its defeat on misfortune, a dropped punt in the first period having paved the way for Ursinus's first touchdown. Later came an intercepted forward pass, which was followed by a long run through a complete break in the Scarlet line. But even with this consolation it is evident that Foster Sanford will find food for thought in his team's showing.

John Heisman's first Penn team had little trouble with Delaware, skirting the ends and smashing the line at will. What the former Georgia Tech coach will do with the Red and Blue is one of the most interesting questions of the current gridiron season. He has little seasoned material, although his 'Varsity backfield on Saturday surprised the observers with its speed and power. Defensively the Philadelphians were nearly perfect, Delaware failing to score a single first down.

WAY STARS FOR PENN STATE

Charlie Way of Penn State, one of the stars whom the experts point to as a probable All-American selection, furnished the sensation of the Blue and White's opening engagement with Muhlenberg, which succumbed by a score of 27 to 7. The brilliant halfback scored two touchdowns himself and his remarkable broken field running led the way for the others. That Bezdek's eleven would be scored upon so early in the season, however, is surprising in itself. The touchdown came after a disastrous fumble in midfield, which is one of the failings that the best of elevens may be allowed in its first game.

Washington and Jefferson had no little difficulty with Bethany, which came close to scoring in the very first period. The danger was avoided, however, and the final score was 28 to 0. Union met with a surprising upset at the hands of Middlebury and was defeated by the margin of one touchdown.

IS THIS YOUR TROUBLE?

A little trouble, quite easily remedied if dealt with in the right way, is the cause of much of the irritability, gloom, and that general sense of "out-of-sorts-ness" which habitually afflict many people. The trouble is constipation; its remedy is Pinkettes, the little laxatives, which, whilst wonderfully efficient, neither gripe nor purge.

If you are constipated, bilious, liverish, have sick headaches, coated tongue, foul breath, try Pinkettes TONIGHT, and see how much better you will feel tomorrow morning. Pinkettes also prevent diarrhoea and dysentery and relieve Piles. Obtainable from dealers, or at 60 cents the vial, post free, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

from sheer weakness and dying from want of nourishment.

OCEAN OF MISERY

"In this ocean of misery it is impossible to help all the stricken, we do not even know them all, but we would like at least to be able to help those whom we know of and who are in our immediate vicinity.

No one will blame us for first of all to think of our Christians who are Chinese and as miserable as the others but our heart is sufficiently large also to think of other people provided that we have the means and the assistance which the committee will give us will be distributed in accordance with the desires of the Committee and without expenses.

NO HARVEST SINCE 1917

Of the 19 subprefectures or "Hsiens" of which our mission consists, eleven are already in a state of famine as they have had no harvest or so small a harvest that it hardly yielded sufficient nourishment for one or two months. Certain districts which I personally know have had no harvest since 1917 and the misery there is terrible; in the 11 subprefectures mentioned above most of the villages have had no harvest of grain in Spring and have seen the Autumn harvest dry up while still in the fields.

GRASSHOPPERS IN ACTION

Near the villages, in gardens where watering by hand has supplemented the rainfall the harvest which had grown up and had already given hopes of reward, have been completely destroyed by grasshoppers, and the peasants have, so to say, had no harvest.

In certain places the drought has been so severe that it has even been impossible to sow and there the misery is extreme: the poor people are eating the leaves of trees but soon there will be no more even of these; all small articles of furniture, clothing, domestic animals have been sold at ridiculous prices so as to buy a little grain at prices so exhorbitant that they have never been experienced previously.

One is a long way off the advice of the Chinese Sages: "In poor years the price of grain should not go beyond one thousand cash." Many have also tried to sell but have been unable to find buyers. Many families have tried to emigrate to Mongolia, only few succeeded in arriving there, some have returned and quite a number have died en route.

COLD WILL CAUSE SUFFERING

I do not like to go to the extent of describing all the horrible details of the famine but I may say that everything which I have read in the Shanghai papers and in other newspapers may be applied also to this district: sale of grown up persons, of children poisoning of entire families suicides, etc., and we are still in Autumn; what will the position be in a few days when the cold sets in?

It must also be taken into consideration that the number of destitute gets bigger from day to day: some families, with great privations, are able to live for a month, other families perhaps two months but only an extremely small number will have sufficient to live until New Year.

OVER 2,000,000 NEEDY

I reckon that in our Mission district more than two million will be in need of assistance before the land will be able to produce something, that is to say until the end of May, 1921; not before that time may the present bad situation be expected to cease, that is to say in from seven to eight months from now.

So as to guard against the first necessities I have already distributed alms which have allowed quite a number of families to remain until the Autumn and have thus been able to profit by the September rains to sow their fields; besides these alms in money I have thought it advisable to give grain to those persons, very numerous, who had fields but nothing with which to sow; as a consequence I have distributed grain for sowing purposes to the poor thinking that a field already sown constitutes a ray of hope for the owner and may easily become a means for him whereby to raise further assistance.

CARING FOR CHILDREN

In our tiny buildings of La Sainte Enfance we have gathered together as many children as the buildings can accommodate, but our resources are very limited and left to our own devices it will hardly be possible to let a drop of consolation fall into this sea of misery. I would like to receive in "refugee schools" where they could be nourished children and young girls, two classes especially worthy of pity, but with our own resources how many could we keep over a period of seven months? I would therefore like the Committee to help us. Left to our own devices we would be unable to insure such a work for more than two or three months, and even then in a very restricted manner although to do even that would mean a sacrifice of about $15,000.

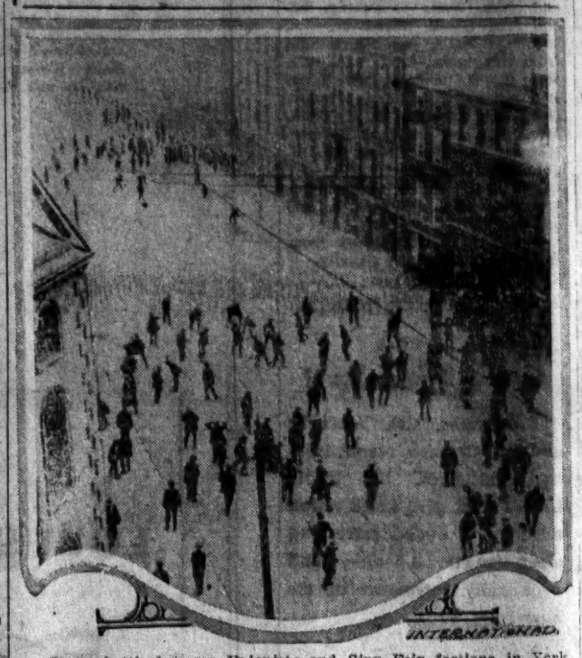
NEED IS IMMEDIATE

It would be advisable if this distribution commenced in a few days so as not to wait until the children whose health has already been undermined by starvation have contracted diseases which will leave traces for the rest of their lives.

I would also like to be able to help the families by distribution of alms and grain. In any case the money which the Committee may decide to give us will be used only for those in need and entirely in accordance with the wishes of the Commmittee and its instructions to us; if we were in the material impossibility of doing exactly what the Committee would require of us the money would be returned, even then with our grateful thanks, or directions would be asked with regard to the manner in which the money should be employed. This is the information which I wanted to give you as regards the situation here feeling sure that you will be our spokesman as well as that of the poor, vis a vis the Shanghai Committee.

You may, of course, make any use of this letter which you deem fit and show it to whom you like as it does not contain anything which is not absolutely correct.

Street Battle Between Factions In Belfast, Ireland



Street battle between Unionists and Sinn Fein factions in York street, Belfast, Ireland, during the recent rioting in that city. The Unionist workers shown in the fore ground are driving the Sinn Feiners back with stones. Such riots have resulted in death and injury to hundreds of persons. The police and military forces have been able to restore order in the disturbed areas only by employing the most drastic measures. Rioters sniping from roof-tops have done the greatest damage.

U. S. EXPORTS

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Oct. 27.—The exports from the United States during September were valued at $606,000,000 in gold and $7,000,000 in silver. The imports amounts to $363,000,000, including $39,000,000 in gold and $7,000,000 in silver.

STATUS OF WOMEN IN MAJOR PARTIES

They Have Active Part In National And Congressional Democratic Campaign

Washington, September 25.—The Democratic Party is going to give the women an active part in both its National and Congressional campaigns.

In keeping with the Democratic attitude of friendliness toward the women voters and women workers, as evidenced by declarations favorable to women in its party platform and the expressions of its leaders, the Democratic National Congressional Committee has put five women on its executive committee, it is announced by Chairman H. D. Flood.

These women, who are among the most prominent in politics in the country and are representative of the different geographical sections, are: Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, Kentucky; Mrs. Howard Wilson, Illinois; Mrs. Mary Foy, California; Mrs. Kent Hughes, Ohio; Mrs. Stuart W. Michaux, Virginia.

These women will undertake the work of pointing out to the women who have been voting for several years, and to the women who expect to vote this year for the first time, that the Democratic Party is the friend of the women and should receive their ballot in November.

Because of their friendly attitude toward the women the Democrats expect to receive an overwhelming majority of the woman vote in November. With the Woman Suffrage Amendment ratified by the 36th State, approximately 37,000,000 women will be able to vote this year.

IGNORED BY REPUBLICANS

The Republicans at their Chicago Convention ignored the women and refused to put planks into their platforms that were strongly urged by the women as absolute necessities for protection of their sex, while the Democrats at their San Francisco Convention gave their cordial consideration and granted all their requests relative to the platform.

The women are sufficiently organised to make their influence felt on the side of the Democratic Party, which has exhibited the greater interest in Woman Suffrage.

Comparison of the platforms of the two parties shows that the Democrats pledged their party to all progressive measures desired by the women, while the Republican declarations give no promise of improved conditions relative to child labor and women in industry.

In addition to indorsing ratification of the Woman Suffrage Amendment as speedily as possible, the Democratic platform has the following to say on the welfare of women and children:

TWO PLATFORM PLANKS

"Welfare of Women and Children—We urge co-operation with the States for the protection of child life through infancy and maternity care; in the prohibition of child labor and by adequate appropriations for the Children's Bureau and the Woman's Bureau in the Department of Labor.

"Woman in Industry—We advocate full representation of women on all commissions dealing with women's interests and a reclassification of the Federal civil service free from discriminations on the ground of sex: a continuance of appropriations for education in sex hygiene; Federal legislation which shall insure that American women residents in the United States, but married to aliens, shall retain their American citizenship, and that the same process of naturalisation shall be required for women as for men."

Legislation for the protection of child life thourh infancy and maternity care, which has been the principal aim of the women for several years, was indorsed by the Democrats, but entirely ignored by the Republican platform.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.
The Effects of Opiates.
THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.
The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria
Physicians Recommend Castoria.
"Your preparation known as Castoria I have used for years in children's complaints and I have found nothing better."
JOHN J. LEPPA, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.
"I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."
A. F. PEKLER, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.
"For several years I recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., New York City.
"I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, laxative effect and freedom from harm."
EDWARD PARRISH, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies."
VICTOR H. COFFMAN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.
"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."
J. A. PARMER, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

See Kee Estates Meeting

The annual general meeting of the See Kee Rubber Estates, (1918) Ltd., was held at the office of its agents, Messrs. William Martin and Co., yesterday. Mr. C. H. Rutherford, chairman, presided. There were is also present among the directors, Messrs. E. Samson, R. N. Swann, Ernest Payne and Zee. The total number of shares represented at the meeting was 22,810.

Resolutions were passed to adopt the directors' report presented at the meeting, to confirm the appointment of Messrs. E. Samson and R. N. Swann as directors of the company and to appoint Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews as auditors of the company for the ensuing year.

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH

The chairman's speech follows:

"Gentlemen. The hour of the meeting having arrived and there being a quorum present. I will now ask the acting secretary to read the notice convening the meeting.

"I will ask the acting secretary to read the auditor's report.

"The directors report, accounts and balance sheet for the year ended 30th June, 1920, having been in your hands for some time I will adopt the usual procedure and take them as read.

"During the year under review 37 additional acres were brought into the tapping round making the producing area 343 acres, and the non-producing area 197 acres. A further 16¼ acres will be brought into the tapping rounds this year making a total of 504 acres in bearing.

"The production during the year was 141,666 lbs. against the estimate of 150,000 lbs. this year the manager estimates an output of 180,000.

"The average number of trees tapped was 39,836 giving an average yield of 3.11 lbs. per tree or 422 lbs. per acre, which I think compares very favorably with the result of other Estates in the district.

PRODUCTION COSTS

"The cost of production was 1s. 3d.812 per lb.ex godown Singapore against 1s. 2d.487 last year, this includes duty and 80 percent general charges. The increased cost is mainly due to loss on rice which the estate supplies to the coolies below cost in accordance with the practice of most of the Estates in the F. M. S. I understand the situation is now a little better, the controlled price of rice has been reduced by about 1/5th. which will diminish the expenditure under this heading.

"The average net price realised on our rubber was 1s. 8d. per lb.

"The Estate is under the management of Mr. P. S. Castle, while Messrs. Barker & Co. Ltd. are the agents. The visiting agent is Mr. Stevens of Messrs. Milne & Stevens.

Five new coolie lines and two staff houses were erected during the near at a cost of Tls. 2486.00.

"915 trees were removed in our thinning out campaign during the year, and we are carrying out further improvements in this respect duing the coming year.

"The mycologist made a special visit recently to report on mouldly rot, and I am glad to say this disease is completely controlled, and no new cases were discovered on the Estate.

"Only 35 trees were lost from brown bast and white ants.

"Exchange was taken at an average of 35, and stocks and liquid assets at 44½.

PROFIT IS TLS. 4,773,33

"The profit for the year after deducting the debit balance of Tls. 2865.01 brought forward from last year amounts to Tls. 4,773,33 which your directors propose to carry forward.

"During the year we received an offer of 115,000 Straits dollars for the factory block, which contains about 100 acres of old rubber. The directors immediately accepted this offer but unfortunately the manager did not obtain the offer in writing and in the meantime owing to financial stress the purchaser was unable to make the necessary financial arrangements and succeeded in keeping out of the manager's way until the option had expired.

"With our small capital of only Tls. 75,000 the sale of this block would have put us in a very strong position and would have enabled the manager to supervise the remaining block more closely and I think more economically. Should any further opportunity arise to effect a sale of this block on favorable terms the directors will not fail to take advantage of same.

"With regard to the proposed restriction of output a small estate like the See Kee cannot be expected to join this movement and it is not proposed to make any reduction at present.

MR. DUNMAN ELECTED

"The, re-election of Mr. C. C. Dunman as a director comes up this year but in view of his absence on home leave and the necessity of curtailing expenditure the directors are of the opinion that his election should be held over.

"Before putting the various resolutions to the meeting I shall be pleased to answer any questions regarding Estate matters to the best of my ability.

"I will now propose that the report and accounts to the 30th June, 1920, as presented be passed."

Mr. R. Samson. I second that.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows in their Exchange Circular for week ending October 27.

Exchange.—The London price of silver at 52¼d. is 1⅜d. higher than last week's closing quotation. Our rate for T.T. on London at 5s. 2d. is 1d. up. Advices of silver still refer to China as a support to silver prices, but unless some improvement in exports takes place very little support can be expected from this side and a sagging tendency is likely to ensue.

Our exchange markeet closes uncertain, with sellers at 1d. above the official quotation, due to gold dealers operations. Very little business is passing in connection with imports or exports.

Local stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 34,000,000 a decline of Tls. 1,330,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $27,920,000 a decline of $660,000.

Estimated value in Taels 54,380,000.

Stock of silver on October 29, 1919, Taels 32,280,000.

Cotton Market

Messrs. J. Spunt and Co. write as follows in their report dated October 30:

China Cotton.—Prices during the early part continued steady and firmed up somewhat during the latter part of the week under review, owing to a fair demand by local spinners and the sharp ascent in Mid-Americans may have also contributed to a certain extent in Mid-Americans may have also contributed to a certain extent in buoying up rates on the local staple notwithstanding the slight weakness which transpired in the Yarn Market here, but which was nevertheless counterbalanced by the steady upward tendency in Sampin.

From reports to hand the total Indian acreage is less by about 700,000 acres and with rains generally regarded as short, crop conditions and particularly the outturn, can better be visualised than described and the expectations are for very much smaller results than last year, discounting the excess registered for the 1919-1920 season.

The very poor results in the Shansi and Chihli Districts this season are factors not to be disregarded when taking a general survey of the conditions bearing on this necessary fibre and while no pessimism is instilled in the situation there is every evidence of the staple maintaining if not a higher, at least not a very receding valuation, especially so in the event of a near revival of activities in the textile industries in Japan. A New Siberian Situation

WHILE the situation in Siberia appears confused, it is evident that important events are transpiring there and that they are the outcome of a new Bolshevik coup. Semenoff's power has been broken and he has escaped from Chita in an airplane. The Bolshevists have occupied his former stronghold and have also appeared at Manchuli. Further, the Vladivostok government is sending delegates to confer with the advancing Bolshevists. Most important of all, probably, is the news that the Japanese are evacuating the whole Amur district and concentrating at Vladivostok and Possiet Bay. A telegram which we published yesterday interpreted this move on the part of the Japanese as meaning that there had been a complete change in the Japanese policy, in other words that they were getting out of Siberia altogether.

Lacking a definite statement to this effect from Tokio it is difficult to credit it. Japan's attitude in Siberia has been that her troops were there to hold back the advancing tide of Bolshevism from the shores of Japan and by backing Semenoff and other elements, Japan did succeed in bringing about the formation of a buffer state which it was thought would suffice as a barrier. This buffer state, however, has now to all appearance collapsed, and instead of pouring in more troops, Japan is withdrawing to the coast, having we believe, first exacted certain guaranties of protection for her civilian population in the evacuated territory.

But whether Japan is prepared to take the final step and quit Vladivostok and Possiet Bay remains to be seen. And while as we say, it is difficult without a direct announcement from Tokio, to believe that this is her intention, there do exist reasons why such a move may now be considered advisable.

In the first place there has been from the beginning powerful opposition in Japan to the whole Siberian policy and this opposition has recently grown stronger. Secondly, political and industrial conditions in Japan have become more and more chaotic. Thirdly, the bitter Siberian winter is approaching and the troops can be better fed and housed in Vladivostok and Possiet Bay (or at home, of course) than is possible far inland. Fourthly, the growing power of the Bolsheviki in Siberia may have made this futile and costly venture seem hopeless to a government already beset by the gravest difficulties both at home and abroad. The Japanese people, for instance, are far more keenly interested in the California situation than they are in the one that Siberia presents. This is shown by the fact that while their Government is doing everything possible to reassure them that a decision fair to Japan will be reached, the Japanese newspapers are fairly bellowing with rage. And of course, if Japan is to enter upon a war with America it would be the part of prudence for her to have all her troops at home, for they would do her no good in Siberia, Korea or China.

New American Interest In Europe

Everywhere in Europe alert Americans are found today, not as mere tourists, but on serious occupation bent, and their presence contradicts the easy conclusion on both sides of the water that Americans are reverting to "isolation" or are indifferent to the plight of Europe, writes Mr. Herbert Bailey in The Westminster Gazette. Not only does one meet as many Americans as Englishmen in Paris, and in Berlin Americans outpacing Germans on the Unter den Linden, "but, in truth, from a Warsaw stricken with typhus to an Armenia where life is cheaper than living, from a Rome anxiously listening to the distant murmurs of revolutionary fervor to a Constantinople aroused from out of her Eastern slumber by the clamor of Western arms and policy, where, before the war, Americans were once regarded with much of the curiosity and some of the amazement with which one would meet a reindeer in the sands of Arabia, they are to be found in numbers almost equal to those of our own people." What are these Americans doing? Mr. Bailey answers:

"There are many whose interest in Europe is purely commercial or strictly financial. Some are extending the business of American firms, establishing new industries, or buying and invigorating with American methods once-decaying enterprises. Others, watching the fluctuating rates of exchange between Europe and America with all the anxiety with which a mariner consults his barometer in a storm-menaced sea, are buying securities, such as German municipal bonds, shares in European firms, and investing in produce and products that can be profitably transported from one European country to another. Romances of rapidly accumulated fortunes are told and retold wherever these Americans gather around their cocktails in the evening, but not, indeed, without the sad accompaniment of regrets of those who have chances lost and opportunities unseen. Then there are the representatives and workers of a variety of philanthropic or political organisations, whose attempts to alleviate European suffering did not come to an abrupt end with the close of the war. The Red Cross still has its men in every corner of Europe and the Middle East, fighting disease and repairing devastation, while American diplomatic and reparation commissions watch with prying eyes and open minds the movements and tendencies, the intrigues and deceptions, of European politics."

But "emphatically the most ubiquitous and certainly the most powerful of Americans in Europe and the Middle East today are the correspondents of the principal American newspapers," according to Mr. Bailey, who was a war-correspondent to the London Times, London Mail, and the Philadelphia Ledger, and he adds:

"From Moscow to Cairo, from Teheran to Madrid, the watchful and critical eye of the American correspondent surveys the fortunes of Europe and the Middle East. The policy of Lenin, as expounded by himself in the Kremlin, the Nationalist uprising in Egypt, the follies of Poland, and the vicissitudes of German governments have been recorded in thorough detail for the amusement or enlightenment of the American over his fruit at breakfast or in the underground railways of New York in the evening. The American in Europe, too, has his morning newspapers. Two American daily journals are published in Paris whose intrepid revelation of many of the secrets of governments and whose fearless criticism on current affairs have been among their best services to the people of Europe. Now, it is obvious that these extensive services of American newspapers in Europe are run at a cost particularly considerable when compared with similar services in the United States. The correspondents are among the best-paid of newspaper men, the upkeep of offices is heavy, and the cable tolls enormous. Yet the editors and business managers of these journals are shrewd business men, who spend money only as a profitable investment, and whose interpretation of what the American people desire to read is the product of long experience and acute prescience. Their only justification, indeed, is that the Americans are and will remain interested in Europe, and that a close observance of European and Asiatic affairs is an essential and important part of the life of the citizen of the United States. . . .

"The greater the amount of American capital invested in Europe the more involved must the State Department become in European affairs. No Government can stand with folded arms and silent tongue if the country's business men abroad demand protection from injustice or foreign discrimination. Nor can the United States affect indifference when the workers of her philanthropic societies are captured or ill-treated in the perilous zones of Europe and the Middle East at the same time that foreign correspondents of her newspapers are fostering and guiding the interest of American people in the Old World."

The American, Mr. Bailey finds, views European diplomacy distrustfully. "That the Americans invoke a standard of international morality in judging Europe that is amusingly virtuous to the Englishman who knows the internal politics of the United States is certainly true. But this blunt fact remains, that the attitude of the people of the powerful United States is being influenced by these observers in Europe." Noting, too, that the inclination of Americans abroad is to hold Great Britain to higher professions of international morality than some other nations, Mr. Bailey tells his countrymen: "The wise diplomatist will recognise that our reputation in America is of greater importance than a temporary advantage in Europe and Asia, and that the days when we could afford to ignore the opinion of the people of the United States were engulfed and lost in the maelstrom of the late war."

Sir Oliver's Ethereal Body

Two of the hardest questions asked by those scientists who maintain that there can be no continuance of consciousness or identity after death because brain and body are destroyed are taken up by Sir Oliver Lodge in an article entitled "The Ethereal World" in the October McClure's Magazine. In his answers Sir Oliver advances the idea of bodies of ether taking the place of those of flesh in interpreting the universe. After having stated at length the three alternative possibilities concerning survival now commonly contemplated by orthodox sections of the civilised world, Sir Oliver states these two questions as embodying the well-known objection:

"How can we be or feel anything like the same person without our bodies?"

"How can we operate, or think, or even exist, without brains?"

Sir Oliver Lodge continues:

"Very well, let us consider a few rather obvious truths, and make a survey of the manner in which we perceive and interpret the universe and of the methods whereby we communicate with each other, here and now. . . .

"For we must remember, or be willing to admit, that 'discarnate' does not necessarily signify 'disembodied.' 'Flesh' need not be the only material of which a body can be made. If the evidence points in that direction, we may have to discover that a 'body' sufficient for the needs of the spirit can be composed of something else, say of ether—which is a real and most important entity, only strange to us because we have no sense-organ for its direct apprehension. . . .

"Consider, then, the function of a body as we know it. Our bodies are instruments whereby we manifest ourselves to each other, whereby we gain sensory information, and whereby, also, we are able to act upon the matter of this planet. They clearly have an animal ancestry, and our sense-organs as well as our nerves and muscles are possessed by us in common with all the higher forms of animal life; indeed, it is remarkable how low in the scale the eye and the ear descend. They are found in animals of quite low grade. Thus all our direct sensations and all our possible movements are shared with the great bulk of animated existence. Physically and so far as mere sensations are concerned the animals can apprehend all that we apprehend, and what is within our bodily power is within theirs. We plan and devise more than they do; our constructions depend upon the use of the same materials and very similar instruments. The animals' sense-organs and those of savages are at least as good as ours, yet our knowledge of the universe is not only larger but, I must assume, different in kind. . .

"Wherein, then, lies the difference? Clearly in the dominating mind, the guiding and interpreting soul. Our interpretation of the universe, like our interpretation of a picture, depends not on our mere sensations but on the use we make of them—depends not on the body but on the essential self. All this shows that our impression of the external world is a function of ourselves; it is not the direct outcome of our sensations—else would all races of men and animals have made similar deductions. What sort of idea of the universe is possessed by an intelligent animal it is difficult to imagine, but it is clear that neither works of art nor the starry heavens, nor a thousand and one things full of vivid interest to us, appeal to it in the slightest degree. A savage sees the stars, and may use them as landmarks and sign, but of the extent and grandeur of the universe he can have no idea. A dog hears an oratorio, or sees a picture, but both are meaningless. . . .

". . . Suppose we were translated to a different order of things, retaining our capacities, I

PUSSYFOOTING IT

(The latest dance is called the "Catstep." It is danced to vigorous Polonaise music, and is thus put into language by a dancing master: "Dip, rush, run, run, stop, right, left, click, click, stop, turn, one, two, then short one."—Daily Mail).

Oh! Kathleen, let us Catstep.
The Foxtrot's out of date.
Don't waste your time with that step,
This new one's simply great.
The waltz is for the weary,
The Onestep we must drop.
Come, Catstep with me, dearie.
It's dip, rush, run, run, stop.

The soft and gentle swaying
Of old, pre-Catstep days
Is dead. Tonight they're playing
A sparkling Polonaise.
No waltz tune now enthralls us,
They're turned out neck and crop.
Tonight the Catstep calls us.
It's right, left, click, click, stop.

Slow movement irritates me,
Old dances make me sick,
But this one fascinates me.
Come, let us right, left, click.
Just once again, old sport. One
More effort ere we drop.
Let's turn, one, two, then short one,
And dip, rush, run, run, stop.

BOBS AND DOLLARS

I don't suppose that Robert Peel, who formed the modern police force, foresaw that it would develop into an army of Bobbies, who would not only maintain order according to law, but would also be in order whenever called upon to help in this wicked old world of ours.

Today there is a famine in the land, when every penny helps to save a human being's life. A shilling, or let us call it by its popular name, a Bob, will help to save twelve lives. But we haven't got any shillings out here. The only Bob we know is the good sportsman, who bows to the dictates of McEuen. This Bob also bows to the dictates of humanity, and in order to bring an unsettled world into order he put all his physical prowess, and sympathy, into an effort to collect dollars.

Today he will endeavor to do the impossible. He will try to convert the Bob into a Dollar. He is giving a great sports meeting, the greatest since 1914. He will ask those who attend to pay a dollar to see the Bobs. All the Dollars he gets will be given to the famine fund. And so the story is "Bobs and Dollars."

I've heard of a Bobby, I've heard of his cook,
But his biggest hobby is fixing a crook;
When needed to banish a famine or crime,
Rely on the help of the Bobby each time.

THIS WONDERFUL AGE

There is no doubt about it, this is a wonderful age we live in. Only a day or two ago we read of a man who played the piano for 177 hours without a stop. And the neighbors did not kill him. It is true that the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Pianos is taking action against him through their representatives Messrs. Moutrie and Robinson, but just what will come out of the affair is not certain.

In these days it is difficult to guess just what the judges will do. If it is Commissioner Schuhl, you can be pretty certain that the motorist will have to hand over ten of the best—and serve him right—I haven't got a motor. But reverting to the piano player. Why on earth did he do it? I suppose he thought he must do something, or somebody, as the profiteer said when he asked three dollars for a dinner which was really worth one. Yes sir, one half of the profiteers don't know how the other half profiteer—but that has nothing whatever to do with my story.

MORE WONDERS

The much boosted "Golden Age" has nothing on this year 1920. Here we have Professor Robertson giving lectures on the wireless telephone. I knew it would come. The professor being a honest-to-goodness-Y-M-C-A-ite got fed up with the local telephone service. Naturally he did not want to swear at the operator, so now he is trying to demonstrate how we can do without wires—and listen, it is only a step in the direction of doing without operators. Ha. Ha. No more "san-e-garras" or any other bally cigars; in future all you will have to do is to think of a number, double it, and you're through.

No sir, no waste, no worry, no wires (Tee-Hee).

MORE PREDICTION

The "Mob Mind" doesn't appeal to me any more than the year 1950 appeals to Doctor Chatley but there is one or two things that present signs undoubtedly point to. In the first place there is a time coming when people wont live in houses. I mean the ordinary people. I don't quite know where they will live, but they wont live in houses because there will be none to let.

And a time is coming when Mr. Smillie and his people, with Sylvia Pankhurst as secretary, will so arrange the world that you will be able to get a dollar's worth of goods for a dollar—No, not as soon as 1950. The League of Nations will also have become a recognised institution. The Municipal Buildings will be quite finished, and the ratepayer will be asked to consider the erection of a new home for its council. Yes sir, all these things will come to pass—but you and I will by that time know for certain whether Conan Doyle is right about the next world or not.

It's a wonderful age, isn't it?

Don't forget the Police Sports tomorrow. One Dollar each, and each will save a life.

Uncle Sam As Employer

Startling figures tending to prove her assertion that the Government's only policy in regard to wages paid to Government employes has been "to have no policy," have been gathered by Mary Conyngton, who prepared charts and figures for the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor.

Tables showing the average salaries of various groups of employes at Washington have been prepared by Miss Conyngton, and without exception great discrepancies appear between the average salary necessary to maintain the purchasing power of the 1893 salary and the salary paid today.

Take the case of the assistants in the reading room and catalogue divisons of the Library of Congress. In 1897 their average salary was $1,200. The index of retail prices of food was put at 100. In 1919 their salaries were $982. The index of retail prices of food was 283, and this means that in 1919 the assistants were able to purchase goods valued at $347, compared to the $1,200 purchasing power value in 1897. Had their salaries been increased in proportion to the index retail price of food they would now be paid $3,396 instead of $982, whose purchasing power is $347 compared to that of 1897.

In the same way the hydrographic and geodetic engineers, whose average salary in 1893 was $2,065, received an average of $1,835 in 1919, the index of retail prices of food having gone up in the intervening years from 100 to 259. The purchasing power of the salary of these employes is $708, compared to that of 1893. The average salary necessary to maintain the purchasing power of the 1893 salary would be $5,348. Instead the employes receive $1,835.

The average salary of naval architects and draftsmen in the Bureau of Construction, Navy Department, in 1893 was $1,492. In 1919 it was $2,408, a sum which is valued at $965, compared to the purchasing power of the 1893 salary. The average salary necessary to maintain the purchasing power of the 1893 salary is $3,864. Instead, the employes receive $2,498.

The average salary of adjudicating clerks, General Land Office, Department of the Interior, was $1,478 in 1893 and $1,571 in 1919. The purchasing power in 1919 in relation to the 1893 salary was $605. The average salary necessary to maintain the purchasing power of the 1893 salary is $3,915. The pay in 1919 was $1,571.

The geologists of the Geological Survey were paid an average of $2,283 in 1893 and $2,733 in 1919. The purchasing power of the 1919 salary in comparison to the 1893 salary was $1,055, and the average salary necessary to maintain the purchasing power of the 1893 salary is $5,913. Instead, the salary is $2,733.

The compositors in the Government Printing Office received an average of $1,002 in 1893 and $1,818 in 1919. The purchasing power of the 1919 salary in relation to the 1893 salary was $725. The average salary necessary to maintain the purchasing power of the 1893 salary is $2,595. Instead, the salary last year was $1,878.

The average of the salaries of Government employes in Washington in 1893 was $1,096 and that of 1919 was $1,321, not including the bonus. The purchasing power of the 1919 salaries in relation to the 1893 salary was $510, and the average salary necessary to maintain the purchasing power of the 1893 salary is $2,839.

"In a sense the Government can scarcely be said to have had a wage policy for half a century or more," says Miss Conyngton. "Unquestionably, when at the close of the civil war, the salary scale was set, it was liberal as compared both with the cost of living and the prevailing wage and salaries outside of the Government service. The idea that a Government position was a 'cinch,' an 'easy thing,' became then so widespread and deeply rooted that it lingers to this day, to the considerable detriment of the service. But having established its organisation and set its scale of compensation, the Government appeared to feel that the matter was done with forever, and took no further steps except when in some particular group or division conditions arose which forced action. This such changes as occurred were merely alterations in specific salaries or groups of salaries, and the salary scale as a whole was almost untouched."

After referring to the increased number of Government employes during the war, Miss. Conyngton says that the war brought the Government into close relations with labor outside its immediate force and that for these workers, from the first the Government committed itself to the general principle "that the worker is entitled to a living wage and that to insure getting this, wages must rise proportionately with the cost of living."

The War Department, the National War Labor Board and the Macy Board acted on this principle as wartime measures, but the Government has recognised the principle since the signing of the armistice, as witness the admission of the Fuel Administration last Winter that the workers might fairly claim an advance proportionate to the increase in the cost of living and along the same line, the Esch-Cummins act instructing the Railroad Labor Board to take into consideration the relation between wages and the cost of living.

"Surveying the whole situation, it does not seem too much to say that the Government's only policy in regard to wages has been to have no policy," says Miss Conyngton. "As shown by its pronouncements during the war in regard to labor troubles, it recognises in theory the advantage of establishing liberal scales of compensation for work of standard quality and the necessity for frequent revisions of the wage or salary scale in order that a due relation may be maintained between the cost of living and earnings.

"But in practice it has shown a complete obliviousness to both considerations. During the whole period covered by the charts (whose contents are summarised in the foregoing) there has been no general revision of the salary scale, and such advances as have been made have varied according to the degree of pressure which the employes or outside circumstances have brought to bear upon the Government. The advances have never been proportioned to the increased cost of living except in the one case of the railroad employes, where the Government was dealing with a strongly organised body able to enforce its claims by drastic action and quite prepared to do so.

"There is not the slightest reason to suppose that this lack on the Government's part is due to an attitude either of hostility or of indifference to the employes. It seems rather to be an illustration of the truth of the old adage that what is everybody's business is nobody's busines. There is no one responsible body charged with the duty of seeing that the Government pays fair salaries and adjusts them from time to time in accordance with changes in the cost of living and in the value of the work done.

"The final responsibility for salaries rests with Congress, but Congress has no definite machinery for keeping itself informed on the question. Generally speaking, whenever a special body has been created to deal with questions of compensation outside the Government service, it has shown a tendency to handle the matter in a liberal and progressive spirit. Is there any reason to suppose that it would be otherwise were it dealing with the same questions within the service? If a commission or other responsible body were created, charged with the special duty of supervising the compensation and employment conditions of the United States employes and recommending to Congress from time to time such changes as it considered were required by changing circumstances, it is not too much to suppose that the present policy of drift would disappear and that the Government would take its place as an enlightened and progressive employer."

How Industries Change

(From the Buffalo Express)

Shifting use of wood, because of fashion or custom, is illustrated by the result of a recent survey of the woodusing industries of this State. In 1912 there were several cane, whip and umbrella handle manufacturers in this State; this year's survey shows not a single manufacturer of walking sticks or whips and but one of umbrella handles. And yet New York and Massachusetts until very recently supplied about forty percent of the total product of these articles, with most of the remainder coming from Pennsylvania. We can understand that the growth of the automobile industry has decreased the output of whips, but what of canes and umbrellas?

Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

Sees England Dry Within Ten Years

Dr. C. W. Saleeby, British Scientist, Says Economic Conditions Will Force Change

New York, September 12.—The people of England are not permitted to know the truth about the effect of prohibition in the United States, said Dr. C. W. Saleeby, British scientist and eugenist, in an interview yesterday at the Hotel Commodore.

"Our people are told that prohibition has ruined the hotel business in the United States," said Dr. Saleeby. "They are told that everybody has taken to cocaine, that one result of prohibition has been the rapid spread of the use of drugs by your people. We are told that the Italians and others who do the hard work in your mines and factories are leaving the country in great masses and nobody is left to do the heavy work. The facts seem to be quite the contrary.

"Some first-class scoundrels are breeding bad blood between the two countries and include American prohibition in their attacks. One has seen this campaign grow to full flower since the armistice. Lord Astor told me that the brewers in England were spending $15,000,000 annually on advertising.

"The truth about prohibition in the United States is not admitted in the press, with some honorable exceptions."

ENGLAND 'DRY' IN A DECADE

Dr. Saleeby, who is here as a delegate to the International Congress against Alcoholism which opens in Washington on September 20 predicted the rapid progress of prohibition in England as soon as the truth of its working in the United States reached the British people. In a decade, he said, England would go dry.

But the industrial and economic factor is the one that is driving England to prohibition, continued Dr. Saleeby. The day is coming when, as predicted by Sir Henry Crookes, America will cease to export food to England. Great Britain imports five-sixths of her wheat supply.

"On the day that America ceases to export food, England will go dry," he added. "On that day the destruction of grain and sugar for liquor will stop. "You are making a colossal experiment. The issue is one of world importance. Englishmen visiting here carry back stories of the working of prohibition that will have their effect on the people. Lord Leverhulme, shrewd business man, came here a 'wet' and returned 'dry.' He said we could pay our debt in five years if we shut off our drink bill.

"When I leave here I am going straight to Scotland, where they will vote on local option for the first time in November. The American verdict will have a great influence. Large areas will go dry, no doubt.

GREAT HEALTH MEASURE

"Prohibition will play into the hand of preventive medicine. It is the greatest health measure in history. Your tuberculosis rate since July 1, 1919, is lower than previously, according to your insurance companies. That confirms the opinion of Sir Arthur Newsholme, who said that abstention from alcohol would have to be enlisted in the fight against tuberculosis. Look at what Gorgas did in the Canal Zone in his fight against yellow fever."

During his visits in the last fortnight to Buffalo, Albany, Syracuse, Rochester and other cities in this State, Dr. Saleeby said he was much impressed by the absence of malnourished or neglected children, judging by European standards. He was more interested in the eugenic side of prohibition than in the police side and he watched every child he saw from this angle. The absence of phenomena in child life connected with alcoholism was important to him, he said, and what struck him as most wonderful was the quality of the children. Not one showed signs of having come from an alcoholic home. He saw no children corresponding to the alcoholised guinea pigs of Dr. C. R. Stockland of Cornell, although in Europe he saw many such children.

Notwithstanding the obvious difficulties, prohibition in the United States has been a success on the whole, in Dr. Saleeby's opinion. He thought it inconceivable that the Lancashire cotton spinners drinking beer and whisky could compete with the cotton spinners of the dry Southern States, and said that England would lose her trade to the United States if she did not "clean up" her homes and factories and public houses. Great Britain will go dry because of the economic situation, he asserted.

think it likely that what we should notice first would be similarities, things something like those to which we were accustomed. Our first impression would be of likeness. Whatever was essentially different we should not at first be able to interpret at all; consequently it would make no impression on us; we should overlook the unintelligible parts and fasten on that which was familiar. Our accustomed interpretative faculty would dominate the situation and only gradually would it enlarge its scope to take an intelligent interest in entirely new and unaccustomed features. That is what I think likely to happen. I picture a yokel taken through a laboratory or a telegraph cable station; he could notice and remember nothing, but would feel a vague discomfort of utter strangeness. Let there be included something homely—a football say, or a cat, or a glass of beer; would it not be welcomed? And when he got home would not something of this sort stand out in his memory and be the only thing reported? For the rest he could only say (in his own words) that they transcended his powers of description.

"His experience is perhaps rather like our own in this strange medley of a world, even here and now; we notice a few things, we ignore the majority; our capacity is not great enough to take in the fullness and richness of existence. . . .

"The constellation or cosmos of atoms which constitutes any given piece of matter, and which, by effort, can be contemplated in the mind's eye, would surely convey a totally different impression to the mind of any one capable of apprehending its details by direct sensation. The porosities and interstices of solid matter might be conspicuous to people with other sense-organs; and then to us, subtle and elusive ether might, to them, seem the most fundamental and substantial of realities—as in truth I think it is.

"Yet suppose our material senses were exchanged for ethereal senses, I wish to sugget that it does not follow that our view of physical existence would at first greatly differ. What we call 'matter' can be regarded as a modification of ether.

. . . Assume the truth of the hypothesis, for the moment, that matter is but modified ether. Then I say that whether we apprehend the modified or the unmodified portion, directly, need make only the difference between the positive and the negative of a photographic plate. An ethereal sense-organ might give us the modifications of ether in one way, a material sense-organ gives them to us in another way, but so long as the ether is really modified wherever matter is it need make no great difference which aspect we preceive. . . ."

Concluding, Sir Oliver says:

"It might, for all we know, be detrimental if information about another state of being were gained too rapidly. All the same, the facts are so, continued existence is a reality, and those who know the facts are bound to testify undeterred by every sort of deserved and undeserved obloquy. Indeed, we can confess that a fellow feeling makes many of us more or less sympathise with the attitude of puzzlement, and rather contemptuous hostility, with which some of our statements are bound to be received by those workers in science who deal with the material side of things alone. Until the ether is properly incorporated into the domain of physics that puzzlement will continue."

Don't Baby Husband

There is such a thing as having too much sympathy for your husband, Mrs. Married Woman.

You make a fuss over every little ailment, draw attention to the fact that it would be so dreadful for you if your husband should die and leave you with a family to support, and make mountains out of molehills that some men love to complain about.

Such men are seeking sympathy and often are not much entitled to it as others who do not mention aches till they become severe pains.

Don't tell your husband that he is working too hard.

Such a line of talk may cause your husband to lose his position.

The man who is pitying and saving himself is no good in practical, everyday business life, where a man must dig in and get results and think of self afterward.

Few men work beyond their strength.

The efforts of the majority are far below that of which they are capable.

If your husband really needs sympathy—give it.

If your husband is seeking sympathy do not be too liberal in extending it.

How To Keep The Teeth

BY BIRCE BELDEN, M. D.

When the late Dr. Osler said that bad teeth were causing more illhealth and misery in the world than strong drink it seemed an exaggerated statement, but new facts are tending more and more to confirm Osler's view.

What is the matter with the teeth of the American people?

We shall outline some of the principal reasons for our dental deterioration.

We eat too fast.

We eat soft food in order to avoid using the teeth.

We do not get enough lime in our food. The foodstuffs preferred by most citizens are almost entirely lacking in lime, without which our teeth cannot be kept in good repair.

We do not eat enough roughage, the consequence of which is a tendency to intestinal stagnation and auto-intoxication, with foulness of the mouth, which still further favors the growth of hurtful germs.

We need more coarse food and also milk and eggs, which are rich in lime.

Chops That Give Cheer

(From St. Louis Globe-Democrat)

In spite of the fact of declining rural population we see a crop this year which, while not the largest we ever had, exceeds that of many previous years when the farm population was much greater. This reveals that machinery and better cultural methods are averting the threatened evil of loss of farm labor, and that we may have been over-concerned and too fearful of the future. Economic conditions have the world-old habit of adjusting themselves. We live in a world of constant change, of new devices to meet new conditions. The world was never so sure of its ability to produce and distribute an abundance of food, as it is today. We may be sure that the resourceful American people will find ways to overcome the menace of agricultural insufficiency.
